

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A system to replace a photosensitive unit and a transfer unit in a printer includes a frame provided in a printer body, and a locking unit which is provided in the frame and simultaneously locks and unlocks the photosensitive unit and the transfer unit that enter via an entrance of the printer body and are seated in a mounting location. The locking unit may include a rotating lever, a rotating cam, and a connection bar which connects the rotating cam to the rotating lever.